military personnel and tuxedo or formal attire for civilians. For more info call Lt. Meghan Giddings at 381-8172/civ. 0621-730-8172.

Tire Safety, Where Rubber Meets Road

Under-inflated tires can lead to premature tire wear, blowouts and a reduction of steering control and braking. These factors can contribute to a vehicle accident that could have been avoided. Operators and supervisors must perform daily preventative maintenance checks before, during and after operation of all military vehicles, including non-tactical vehicles.

Know what the proper tire pressure is for your particular vehicle. It is not the maximum tire pressure annotated on the sidewall of the tire. The proper inflation limits for tires are based on the vehicle's designed load limit and the tire size. Tire pressure should be measured when the tires are cold and the vehicle has not been driven for at least three hours.
